These required documents contain sensitive information that can include, but is not limited to, an individual's full legal name, date of birth, social security number, employee identification number, education, financial history, employment history and any Misdemeanor or Felony charges, past or present.

This information is defined by the US government as "records" for which First Financial, under the Privacy Act, is required to restrict disclosure; and protect against unwarranted invasions of privacy, resulting from the collection, maintenance, use, and disclosure of personal information.

To ensure smooth transition of referral to funding, First Financial will need to communicate with outside parties such as your referring Agents, Franchisors, Coaches, and/or Consultants about your status during the SBA review process.

By signing below, you give First Financial permission to disclose necessary information to the above bolded parties to facilitate funding.
